MARKET FACT #108

1500

employees is what Twitter currently has as its workforce under Elon Musk. Down from 8000 employees at the time of its acquisition.

DATE: November 24, 2023

COMMENT: The famous Entrepreneur, and one of the best entrepreneurs of our time I might add, has cut 80% of Twitter's (now X) workforce to date. Looks like there's a lot of redundancy and pointless positions at the company, rendering a lot of the workforce useless. And this amount of layoffs happening while Musk tries to impose its "everything app" vision is surprising, since turning Twitter into X and in a "copy" of WeChat must need the best tech workers of these times.
