NUCLEAR reactors is what CHINA currently has to power the country. Over the past decade, 37 reactors were added.

DATE: December 20, 2023

COMMENT: THE SOURCE: "It aims to install between six and eight nuclear reactors each year..... The State Council (China's cabinet) approved the construction of ten in 2022. All in all, China has 22 nuclear reactors under construction, many more than any other country. The growth of nuclear power has stalled in Western countries for a number of reasons. Reactors require a large upfront investment and take years to construct. The industry is heavily regulated."
