MARKET FACT #213

800

employees who worked in gaming for EA (Electronic Arts) were laid off in March 2023. That's 6% of its workforce being sent home.

DATE: January 19, 2024

COMMENT: There's more for you to consider: "Roughly 6,500 video game workers have been laid off globally since January [2023], including hundreds at California-based companies, according to industry estimates. Some analysts believe the figure could be much higher because several companies have not disclosed the number of jobs they cut." – SOURCE: Los Angeles Times. Exactly. Some companies are HIDING the reality and many ex-employees are not being public about it. Think about how many lives are actually jobless now in 2024.
