Data Centers is how much The World currently has to fuel its systems' daily operations.

DATE: January 24, 2024

COMMENT: The United States of America has 33% of the World's data centers today, totaling 2400. China, has 328 data centers. Ireland, has 82 data centers and 54 are underway. The United Kingdom hosts a total of 461 data centers, with 70 of them located in London. This places the country in the 3rd position by the number of data centers, behind the US and Germany. This data also tells us where countries are placing their investments regarding technology of the future, like A.I. and blockchain, for instance. Good for you to know!
