COMMENT: The Era of Mass Surveillance begins once again with CBDCs which is a new form of government control, and unprecedented. It's a way for world governments to both map the remaining wealth of its citizens and spy on it at the same time, killing financial privacy. Not to mention financial control. Today, there are 87 countries – representing more than 90% of Global GDP – already exploring CBDCs. The countries implementing it at a faster pace are anti-democracy countries like China, which already started its pilot: e-CNY, among others.
