COMMENT: The Waste management industry is actually good business to those who know how to explore trash to make money. Because countries like the U.S. produce a lot of trash annually, and because there's a lot of recycling opportunities in things that people throw away, the business of trash is soaring. Despite the cost of landfills, which tend to cost in the U.S. from \$1.1M to \$1.7M just to construct, operate and close a landfill, it's still a good opportunity. Trash can be seen differently when you look at the numbers today.
