MARKET FACT #36

IBM human resources department workers now do the job of what previously required 700 employees due to A.I.

DATE: September 11, 2023

COMMENT: The common misconception of A.I. taking people's jobs is in thinking that Robots will steal the show (and the jobs). That's harder to happen because A.I. in the form of humanoid robots need to mimic the 5 human senses that humans have, not to mention their ability to move limbs like Arms and Legs etc. Therefore, white collar jobs (those that require the use of human intelligence) will disappear first, to only then machines or robots take over the blue collar ones. This stat is just another example.
