MARKET FACT #97

of the World's Lithium is processed by China. Along with 30% of Nickel, 70% of Cobalt and almost 75% of Graphite.

COMMENT: The dominance of China when it comes to EVs is beginning to scare markets and experts worldwide because China is already the number #1 provider for batteries in today's International Market. It's already being extremely HARD for the United States and Europe to stop being reliant on China for materials for batteries if they want to stay in the game. Therefore, the global EV battery supply chains without China is not a reality nowadays. Capitalist countries are needing a Communist nation for critical materials and for business.
